Play...

Guitar Study Checklist

to backing tracks / musicians like a bass guitar
a simple melody by ear with a capo with the lightest touch you can as fast as you can with your eyes closed
"Guitar Simon"
along with a music playlist / radio standing up and record yourself only breathing during silence in the mirror
a new cover song
a new solo from a guitar legend with a slide in a new tuning a melody that you hummed first only on one string an old scale in a new way a solo using only the open position a note while you sing it as slow as you can brand new chord shapes with a metronome at 40 bpm with only your fingers outside of 4/4 timing a lick from a guitar legend by ear a new exotic scale new chord inversions by sight-reading a new chord chart the guitar percussively by sight-reading sheet music free to print, share, distribute, giving visible credit to eatsleepguitar.com